

Digital Evidence Management Software for less than the price of a monthly cell phone?

How is that possible?

Dynamic Workflow Solutions is pleased to bring law enforcement, prosecutors, and courts, the fastest, and by far the most affordable Case Investigation and Distribution Solution. Data-Central (DC) software enables users to view, index, secure, and authenticate digital evidence and then pass it to other stakeholders in the process. DC ingests digital media from virtually any source files that can be seen in the Windows environment, and then indexes, creates a Hash 256 for authentication, converts proprietary video (such as CCTV), encrypts all the files, and creates a single file called a Case-Pak, that can be distributed by any IT method the organization prefers, (cloud, on-premise storage, hard drives, discs, and more). Data-Central is not a DEMS, RMS or CMS, and is not meant to replace any of your existing products. In fact, DC is a completely open system designed to work with your existing systems and is a perfect solution for archiving old cases or migrating digital evidence from an older platform to a new one.

Each Case-Pak comes with its own database, a complete evidence list that is searchable from the FREE Evidence Viewer, as well as encryption and password protection for security; all for “nickels and dimes,” not thousands of dollars. Users can search for any form of metadata from file types, like GPS, names, zip codes, criminal charges, or any other data ingested into the database. Users can even search across Case-Paks for multi-jurisdictional investigations.

There is no charge for the Data-Central Software, so that organizations can give the software to everyone who needs it, not just a select group of users. Much like a cell phone plan, users only pay for processing digital content, and once processed, there are no further charges. There are never charges to access the evidence post processing, and you can make as many Case-Paks as needed to send to all the stakeholders in the process with the FREE Viewer. At DWS we believe that fast, simple, affordable tools that any investigator, prosecutor, or operations person can use to drag and drop case content, is the right solution.